Hello,

Thank you for taking the time to look over my submission for Tracer. I have sent you a link to the files, and you can also see my submission live on Github: https://graysonrandall.github.io/portfolio/Tracer/index.html

My submission is not 100% perfect, as I have discovered some bugs that would require further research and fixing. However, I do feel that you should be able to get a sense for my skillset and skill level with what I have done.

I was able to complete most of the requirements for this submission, with the exception of #6. For that requirement (and for #2), I approached it as best that I know how with JavaScript and jQuery but I realized after some work that I would actually prefer to use jQueryUI (specifically .draggable and .droppable which works better with mobile) to complete those two requirements. I did not do that however to abide by the rule of not importing any other libraries. I hope that is ok for the purpose of this submission.

Thanks again for your time,
- Grayson

Grayson Randall
graysonrandallwebdev@gmail.com
815.600.6610